About Iron Horse Sanctuary

Iron Horse Sanctuary is a non-profit animal rescue in Goshen, New York. Their mission is very simple: to improve equine welfare standards and stamp out animal suffering and cruelty. Their horses are saved from auction, owner surrendered or taken from abusive or neglectful situations. They give rescue, rehabilitation, adoption and if necessary, permanent sanctuary to all equines. Iron Horse works within our local community to offer sanctuary to numerous feral and semi feral cats. Many of their animals arrive here broken, defeated and scared. Over time they rebuild their trust, repair them physically and mentally and allow them to live in herds, as nature intended. They educate and bring together the local community so that they may experience the human to horse relationship and by doing so improve the plight that many of America's horses face every day.

About Dumped Stray Animal Rescue

Dumped/Stray Animal Rescue is a non-profit animal rescue founded in 2017 in Middletown, New York. They are an all volunteer organization maintaining a small shelter and feral cat sanctuary. Their volunteers and foster families work tirelessly to ensure that shelter and food are provided for all local and homeless animals. Their mission is to manage and support the population of abandoned and stray animals, and act as a community leader in humane education to help promote responsible pet ownership. They run Randall's Place which is a feral cat haven, where homeless cats can live happy and free! They recently got permits to expand the haven and need funds to make it happen.
